NEWS SUMMARY.

Cotton closed in New York at 27c. for Middling Uplands. Gold closed at 87%.

In Liverpool Middling Uplands closed at 10dd. Three steamboats were sold last Wednesday, at St. Louis, by the Atlantic and Mississippi Steamship Company, for an aggregate price of $26,500.

.The horse railroad in Worcester, Mass., has proved a failure, and the rails are to be taken up, unless a new company will purchase the franchise and property.

A law in Canada prohibits the killing of insec tivorous birds. A police magistrate at Ottawa has decided snipe to be insectivorous, and sportsmen are in dismay.

It is said the Board of Directors of the National Soldiers' and Sailors' Asylum have purchased the Ohio White Sulphur Springs, to be used as an asylum as provided by act of Congress. The New York Christian Association proposes to erect a building to cost $200,000, corner of Fourth avenue and Twenty-third street. The subscriptions have progressed so favorably that the managera feel justified in commencing operations. Every policeman in Chicago carries with him pieces of boiled beef prepared with nux vomica, upon which he regales the dogs which he happens to meet. Some thousands of worthless curs have shuffled off their mortal coil under this regimen and still the work proceeds. Rev. Dr. Wordster, the eminent founder of the New Jerusalem Church in America, has just surrendered his pastorate, and intends to devote the rest of his life to the composition of works on the Apocalypse and the Prophets. He has long, or rather always, held the first place in the New Church in this country. The Boston correspondent of the New York Evening Post says that "Professor THEOPHILUS ons is said to be engaged on a theological work to be entitled 'Dous Homo.' From the title and well-known views of the distinguished author, I infer that it will be a popular presentation of the New Church (or Swedenborg's) theory of the divine humanity."

Kansas City, Mo., contains about 16,000 inhabitants, and is hopeful of leading the cities west of St. Louis. She is striving for the Santa Fe and Fort Scott railroads. The railroad at Wyandotte, Kansas, is built so low under the bluffs of the Mis souiri that it is now four feet under water, and the river still rising. Goods and passengers are taken from Kansas City to Wyandotte by steamer. In France 9072 miles of railroad are now in ope ration, and 4090 miles more are in course of construction. The French government has made grant of $290,000,000 to these railroads, on condition that at the end of 99 years, the roadways and tracks shall become the property of the nation. The companies, however, are to retain the rolling stock and other personal property. An editor's bliss in the next world is spoken of as follows: "In that paradise the cry of 'more copy will never again fall upon his distracted ear. His enjoyment will no more be interrupted by the growls of unreasonable subscribers, and he will no more be troubled with illegible manuscript and abominable poetry. No rival editor will steal his thunder or his items, and typographical errors shall know him no more forever." The chief incomes in Chicago during 1866 were CHUTTLES, wagon manufacturer, $111,625; B. P. HUTCHINSON, commission merchant, $73,609 (in 1865 it was but $3,061); WESLEY MUNGER, $79,949; GEORGE ARMOUR, elevator proprietor, $71,950 (in 1965 his income was but $12,352); J. D. Cole, Jr. $52,700 ; L. M. McCormick, $50,215 ; H. T. Dick-ET, $51,727.

The tornado which swept through Ne 7 Jersey last week, is described as "a dark, huge, funnelshaped mass, illuminated at intervals by electrical explosions, whirling, swaying, surging and forcing its way, rapid in progress and fearful in power. Now veering to the right and anon to the left, plunging furiously forward and sharply recoiling. it swent away all that obstructed its course, and by its eccentric evolutions made the path of desolaffor much wider than its own bulk could have effected had it rolled onward in a straight line."

The New York Times says well-informed Ger mans in New York have little faith in the London Conference, as a means of restoring pacific rela-tions between Prussia and France. Their reasoning is very simple. France says beforehand it ts no extention of territory. It will ask Prussis to make a similar pledge. Prussia will not do because her principal aim is to extend her territory so as to perfect German unity. Prussia is mined France shall not have Luxemburg. France is bent upon defeating Prussian aggrandirement. Therefore, though there may be a truce, there can be no lasting peace. This reasoning is plausible, and it expresses the convic-tions of others besides well-informed Germans. Some funny anecdotes of the niggardly character of M. Cousin, who has recently died, have been circulated. His youthful washerwoman whom he had known as a child, and was very parial to, called upon him one day, when he asked her if she had ever read any of his works. "No, Monsieur Cousin." "Would you like to read one?" "Certainly." M. Cousty took down a volume-Le Vrai, Le Beau, Le Bien. At the end of the month the washerwoman presented her bill, 13 francs 25 cents. That is quite correct," said M. Cousin. but we must deduct 3 francs 50 cents for the book which leaves 9 francs and 75 cents; there are 10 france, you may keep the 5 sons, my little dear,

A Western man, now visiting at the East, thus writes of the cost of living in the two sections : "I have been surprised to learn, while in New England, that the cost of living is really less here than in the West, from which bread and meat is transported to supply New England. Flour is only a trifle higher per barrel in Portland than it is in Chicago, and potatoes and all vegetables are consiberably cheaper. Only four articles cost more here than in Chicago-bread, meat, butter and lard; all else which is needed in a family costs less Rents here and in Boston, and in the manufacturing towns of New England generally, are nearly one-half less than in Chicago and the small towns of the West. Wood and coal are no higher, while from 10 to 20 per cent. cheaper. The Buffalo and Erie Railroad Company have adopted for their trains an invention called the "Hand Station Indicator." Its object is to do away with the custom of crying out each station, by having a "machine" in each car which indicates in succession the several stations as the train approaches them. The names of the stations are on white cloth, which is moved by rollers, and each turn of the rollers brings the name of the next station to view after the manner of some counting room calendars, at the same time striking a bell which calls the attention of passengers to the change. It is operated by the hand of the conducfor or trakeman. The general heading under which the name of the station appears is: "This train next stops at _____," The invention appears to meet a long existing want and will undoubtedly find favor with other railroad companies, but for the benefit of inattentive persons and of those unable to read, the custom of announcing the names of stations should be kept up.

The report of the French Transatlantic Steam Navigation Company, presented at the annual Growling in Paris; a counter growl at Berlin; meeting held in Paris, contains interesting observations on the superiority of screws to paddle wheels. The prosperity of the company is attribnted to the good sea-going qualities of the new vessels, and especially the great economy attending the use of screw steamers. According to the report just made, "the use of the screw procures, for vessels of equal tonnage, a saving of about 25 per cent. in fuel, with an increase of 20 per cent. in speed." The advantage thus obtained is said to have been proved in a most decisive manner by the experiment of the St. Laurent, which was at pean conference. SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 11, 1867.

JoB Work .- We have now completed our office so as to execute, in the shortest possible time, ALL KINDS OF JOB WORK, and we most respectfully ask the patronage of our

HON, R. BARNWELL RHETT.

We notice by the telegram that Hon. R. B. RHETT is now in Washington for the purpose of examining the public archives for information to be used in a history of the late civil difficulties which he purposes to write. Telegraphic news is not always feliable, but we sincerely hope that this is true. Whatever may be or may have been our diferences of opinion on public matters with this distinguished man, no one can recognise more fully than we do his great ability, the purity of his private character, the singular and tenacious consistency of his public life, and the fact that he is pre-eminently the representative of a school of statesmen whose creed and influence have indeed passed away, but who must always occupy a large and enduring place in the political history of the country. From his early manhood Mr. RHETT has been one of the influences of the State, and he has always enjoyed the full confidence of his constituents. His long personal experience, his intimacy with all the great political leaders of the last forty years, his active and ardent participation in all the great events of our political history, the energy and pertinacity of his convictions, and the fact that he has survived most of his famous cotemporaries, will give both importance and interest to his history of the

M. RHETT has lived to see the utter exinction of the Constitution and the civilization under which were nurtured his warmest affections and his most earnest convictions. For him the active strife of life is over, and he can do no better service to those who are to come after him than to place upon lasting record his recollections of his political life.

It is more than likely that the young and carnest men who are growing up to be the hinkers and actors of another and very different generation, will not read his history in the same light by which he will write, but they will turn to it with the assurance that they will find in its pages honest convictions, important truth, rich and varied information, and, above all, a devoted love to that State whom in their day we hope they will serve with equal fidelity, ability and honor.

SPEECH OF MR. SPEAKER COLFAX.

We do not generally think it worth while to call the attention of our readers to the speeches sa follows: C. H. McCorance, $169,760; Peres of Northern politicians; for we think it makes very little difference to us what they do say. The duty which lies before us will scarcely be lightened by their opinions. From none of them have we received any help, and from none of them do we expect any sympathy.

But Mr. Colfax occupies a position in which the expression of opinion is something more significant than a mere individual's, and we all recollect that his speech made in Washington just before the opening of the Thirty-ninth Congress was faithfully indicative of the course pursued by the Republican party during the next two years.

On the 6th of May a reception was given Mr. COLFAX by the Union League of the city of New York, upon the occasion of his delivering lecture before that body. Mr. JOHN JAY, when introducing Mr. COLFAX, said "we trust that the speaker may presently order the roll call of representatives from every State of the re-united Republic," and in reply Mr. COLFAX said what we think our people may fairly consider the expression of opinion of the Republican party. "The vast majority in the South are ignoring all their life-long prejudices and hastening to accept these terms (the reconstruction act). Nor need I say to you that having carefully elaborated these laws, having passed and then repassed them over the inevitable veto of the Executive, the great party which has thus become reponsible for them intend to stand by them faithfully and literally, if their terms are complied with by the rebel States in good faith and without evasion. They would be branded with dishonor and their fame tarnished forever if they did not. But it is a party whose plighted word to the people has never been broken and will not be

THE EUROPEAN CONFERENCE. The much talked of Conference of European Powers met in London on Tuesday, and came o a dead lock on Wednesday. Of great Powers, England, France, Prussia and Austria were present; also Italy, Holland and Belgium, thus affording ample opportunity to review European affairs generally. But such appears not to have been the intention of the crowned heads who sent these plenipotentiaries. Iudeed, it would be difficult to say what their instructions could have been. The facts are simply these: . There is a quarrel between France and Prussia, not because of any wrong committed by either to the other; not because clothing, furniture, dry goods, boots and shoes, are of any insult, but simply for the championship of Western Europe; just as we had the great international "mill," u few years ago, beween England and the United States, represented by Messrs. HEENAN and SAYERS. France has worn "the belt" for threequarters of a century, during which time her supremacy was never questioned for more than a few years at a time. Prussia at last got restive, and by a clever manusure cluded the vigilance of Napoleon. The stratagem met with the most brilliant success, far beyond all reasonable expectation. Prussia, it is true, has not borne her laurels either quietly r very meekly. On the contrary she has been much given to boasting. This has irritated France, and her Government has in turn enleavored to get even with Prussia, by circumventing her in the Luxemburg affair. Bis-MARCK, however, got wind of it just in the nick of time, and put his veto upon the transaction. general arming on both sides of the Rhine money men alarmed, Rentes fall, and armories at work night and day from the Bay of Biscay

to the Vistula. Now England suggests that there is no use going to war about nothing : any trifling difference such as exists between the two august commanders, can easily and amicably be adjusted by a free interchange of views at a Eurofirst intended to have paddle wheels, but in course sent to the meeting. They meet, but as each of building was changed into a screw vessel. Two of them cannot have what they want, the quesother steamers, considered too slow for present | tion is still as far from settled as ever. Prusrequirements, are to be similarly improved in the ode of propulsion. The system adopted is the dismantling of the fortress of Luxemburg, double screw, which has been successfully tried in England and in the French Imperial navy. The provided the other great powers, who are parusions thus arrived at have an important ties to the treaty, will guarantee the continties to the treaty, will guarantee the contin-uance of the neutrality of the grand-THIS PAPER CIRCULATES THROUGHOUT THE middle portion of the State, and offers the best facilities for advertisers.

It seems some of the plenipotentiaries had power to bind their governments to such a compact. They therefore asked time to consult with their "coustituencies."

We doubt much if England will enter on such stipulation, as it is not to her interest to become again involved in the complications of continental politics. Mr. Diseault, not a year ago, remarked that England's policy is to stand aloof from the petry squabbles of European diplomacy. She is more of an Asiatic than a European power. As Mr. DISEARLI IS NOW one of the principal members of the British Government, it is fair to surmise that the ministry will not be in favor of entering such a compact.

In the meantime, we are told, arming is steadily progressing on both sides, and war is not unlooked for.

ASTROLOGY.

THE WORLD ASTONISHED

MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST, Madame H. A. I'ERRIGO. THE REVALS SECRETS NO MORTAL EVER KNEW.

SHE REVALS SECRETS NO MORTAL EVER RNEW.

She restores to happiness those who, from doleital events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages, and tells you the vory day you will marry, gives you the names, meness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers, unwaits the dark and hidden mysteries of the nuture. From the stars we see in the firmanent—the malene stars that overcome or per-dominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so accorable an opportunity. Consultation foe, with likeness and all destred intornation, 31. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madanne by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, scart by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secresy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order hurnished those destrugation. Write planity the day of the month and year in which you were both, enclosing a small lock of bane.

It only requires a fair trial to confirm its invaluable agency in diffusing through each channel of the human organization a restoned vitality. It invagorates and embuse the Lungs with healthful clasheily; restores warmth, which is their essential element; rouses the sluggish vessels into activity; leals the affected lobes; purifies and enriches the blood; regulates the circulation; induces free and easy respiration, and expels, through its administration, each and every concomitant disorder present in the m-lady recognized as Consumption, and hitherto deemed hopeless and incurable.

This compound is perfectly safe, possessing neither narcotic nor emetic properties, which unfortunately are always employed as essentials in every preparation for Cough or Lung affection—a mistake which too of en in its irritating and debilitating consequences, only conduces to much general derangement of the system, destroying appetite and creating an injurious nervous excitement, augmenting suffering with frequent fatal results.

Under the influence of this approved and invaluable

itement, augmenting successful approved and invaluable Specific the most distressing Cough yields, difficulty in breathing and pains and soreness subside, hemorrhage is arrested, and health and strength re-established.
